VOLUME XXXV 2246

LEXINGTON, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, JULY 6, 1945

NUMBER 33

Leo Chamberlain Heads Foundation

The newly formed Kentucky Research Foundation had its initial meeting Friday. The organization plans were perfected, officers were elected and a gift of $15,500 from the Kentucky Distillers Corporation was received for scholarships and fellowships.

Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, University dean and registrar, was appointed president of the foundation, Dr. W. S. Webb, vice president, and Prof. E. N. Fergus, secretary and temporary treasurer. Members of the executive committee will be Dr. Chamberlain, President H. L. Donovan, Grover Creech, Louisville, member of the board of trustees; Prof. Frank Murray and Professor Fergus.

The board of directors is composed of Dr. Chamberlain, Dr. Donovan, Frank D. Peterson, University comptroller; R. P. Hobson, Louisville board member; J. C. Everett, Maysville, also alumnus-board member; Mr. Creech, Professor Fergus, Dr. C. C. Ross, Dr. Murray and Dr. Webb.

A temporary committee will be appointed by Dr. Chamberlain to receive scholarships and fellowships and Dr. Chamberlain and Dr. Murray were named process agents for the foundation.

The gift of the Kentucky Distillers association will be used as follows: 30 freshman scholarships of $250 each; two agricultural fellowships of $2,000 and $4,000 to be used for equipping the animal nutrition laboratory.

Ross Accepts Position In Army Study Center

Dr. C. C. Ross, head of the department of educational psychology at the University, has accepted a position at a university study center which the Army has established at Shrivenham, England. Dr. Ross is the second professor to accept such a position and will leave this month to join Dr. C. G. Latimer who recently accepted a similar position.

Dr. Ross has been a member of the University staff since 1926 and holds an A.B. degree from the University of Tennessee, and a M.A. and Ph.D. degree from Columbia University.

Donovan To Speak

Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of the University, will make the principal address at the annual Boyle county Beef Cattle Field day to be held Saturday.

Among the other speakers of the day will be Dr. W. P. Garrigus, head of the Animal Industry department of the University, an outstanding authority on beef cattle.

Kampus Kernels

Noonday prayer meeting . . . is being held at 12:30 daily in Room 204 of the Union.

Baptist student vespers . . . will be held at 6:30 Wednesday on the Union balcony followed by prayer meeting at Porter Memorial Baptist church and bowling.

YMCA-YWCA . . . will meet at 6:15 Tuesday on the Union balcony.

Dr. and Mrs. Donovan . . . will entertain with a tea in honor of the students, faculty and staff of the College of Agriculture and the Graduate School from 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday at Maxwell office.

Rev. Othar O. Smith

Interfaith Vespers To Begin Sunday

The Rev. Othar O. Smith, Baptist student secretary, will open the July inter-denominational vespers, to be held each Sunday at 6:15 p.m. on the lawn behind Patterson hall, with a message on "The Unknown God."

The open-air services have been planned to promote a better understanding among students of various denominations and to introduce them to the student leaders of other groups.

Various churches of the city have dismissed their youth groups in order to cooperate with the campus leaders to the fullest extent.

George Kendall, a graduate student in psychology, will preside at the opening service.

Experiment Station Receives Two Gifts

The University Agricultural Experiment station was the recipient of two gifts totaling $6,800, it was announced by the executive committee of the board of trustees.

A gift of $6,500 from the Chilean Nitrate Educational Bureau, Inc., was for the purpose of conducting experiments concerning the effects of iodine in plant content. The Middle West Soil Improvement committee gave the station $300 for research and study on the plant food needs of Kentucky soil and crops.

Staff Salary Is Inadequate, Donovan Says

Dr. H. L. Donovan, University president, stated that the state $5,000 salary limitation was the major reason for the departure to other states of at least five University professors who have accepted positions elsewhere. Some of them are on leave and others have resigned.

Dr. Donovan informed the University trustees' executive committee in session in his office that the present limitation made it difficult to keep highly trained men.

The resignations of James W. May, associate professor of heating and ventilating engineering, and William H. Pittman, professor of law, were accepted at this meeting. May has been on leave to the American Air Filter company for the past two years and has left to accept a permanent position with that company. Professor Pittman, on leave for the past three years, re-

Graduate To Direct Music At Institute

Miss Mary Elizabeth Rentz, Lexington, has accepted a position as director of vocal music at Mary Institute, a country day school for girls affiliated with Washington University, St. Louis, Mo. She has been director of vocal music in the Lexington junior high schools for the last three years. She will begin her new duties in September.

Miss Rentz graduated from the University, where she was a member of Alpha Gamma Delta social sorority, Cwens, the women's glee club and Phi Beta Kappa.

Maxedon Receives Silver Star Medal

First Lieut. James R. Maxedon, a graduate of the University, has been awarded the Silver Star Medal for "gallantry in action in France, Belgium, Luxembourg, and Germany" from Oct. 7, 1944, to April 18, 1945, with the Sixth Armored Division. Lieutenant Maxedon is with the Combat Engineers and holds the Bronze Star and Purple Heart, in addition to the Silver Star. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Maxedon of Lexington.

Tuesday To Be UK Day For Students And Staff

Special Features Have Been Planned, Hackett Announces

A friendly atmosphere and a chance to meet fellow students will be the keynote of UK day to be held July 10, stated Mrs. Dorothy Evans, social director of the Union. This day has been designated as UK Day at Joyland by park officials.

Several special events have been arranged by Hal Hackett, promotion manager of Joyland. In the afternoon there will be a softball game between the students and the faculty. The prize will be a ride on the roller coaster to the winning team. In the evening there will be two dance contests. One will be a jitterbug contest and the other a waltz. The prizes for this event will be season passes to the dance casino for the winning couples. Immediately following the dance contests will be a "Contagious Smile" contest. Sometime during the day a special event will be held. The event will be a complete surprise to the public.

A booth will be set up in the Union today, Monday and Tuesday and all students wishing to attend have been asked to obtain identification cards there.

Park officials have announced that all rides and the swimming pool will operate at half price to persons holding identification cards and the dance casino will be thrown open for the evening with no admission charge. The Joyland orchestra will play.

Dr. Alexander Capurso Will Conclude Series

Dr. Alexander A. Capurso of the University music department will be the speaker at the last talk of the sixth series of the Invitation to Reading programs.

The subject under discussion will be "Tchaikowsky, Mastered Master" and the program will be held at 2:45 p.m. Tuesday, July 10 in the Browning room of the library.

Question: Are you in favor of compulsory military training after the war? Why?

Blaine Guthrie, Com., freshman: No, I don't want to throw the younger generation away that way.

Jane Blake, A&S, senior: Yes, as long as it is a part of the school curriculum.

Pvt. Morton Orbach, AST: Yes, it would better American youth by improving their education.

Esther Price, Ag., senior: No, because it gives too much power to the government.

Pvt. Roy Parkins, AST: Yes, because it will show a fellow what his country is trying to keep out of.

Joe Comer Ross, A&S, freshman: Yes, because it will give the boys the training they need to face the problems they'll find in later life.

Ann Read, A&S, junior: Yes, it will give the boys the discipline and the independence they need.

Dick Beal, A&S, sophomore: No, I think that all military training should be given in the high school.

Listeners' Institute To Be Presented Monday And Tuesday By Radio Group

American Broadcasting, WBKY And WLAP To Discuss Problems

The University radio station, WBKY; the American Broadcasting company, and Lexington station WLAP unite in presenting a Listeners' Radio Institute, to be held July 9 and 10 on the University campus and at station WLAP in downtown Lexington.

A two-day program of talks, discussions and explanations has been planned by the presiding chairman, Elmer G. Sulzer, director of public relations at the University.

Visiting ABC officials will include Robert B. White, director of public service, central division; Grace M. Johnsen, director of women's and children's programs; H. B. Summers, manager, public service division, and Paul B. Mowrey, director of television.

Paul B. Mowrey H. B. Summers

Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of the University; H. E. Wetzel, head of the University Department of Social Work; L. C. Brewer, director of the University's agricultural broadcasts, Mrs. Lolo Robinson, program supervisor of station WBKY, and Chloe Gifford, assistant in University extension, will participate from the University staff.

WLAP personnel on the program will be J. E. Willis, manager of WLAP, and Truman Morris, news editor.

Two round table discussions will be broadcast during the Institute, one at 3:15 p.m. Monday from studio A, station WLAP; and at 3:00 p.m. Tuesday Lexington's Town Meeting of the Air, from studio A, University station WBKY, broadcast over station WLAP.

The Monday program, opening at 10:00 a.m., in studio A, University Radio Studio, top floor of McVey hall, includes: 10 a.m., This Thing Called Radio, by Robert B. White; 11 a.m., The Listener Looks at Radio, by Lolo Robinson; 12:15 p.m., Dutch lunch in private dining room, University Commons.

The Monday afternoon session, to be held in studio A, station WLAP: 2 p.m., Broadcasting for Children, by Grace M. Johnsen; 3:15 p.m., roundtable broadcast over WLAP—

7 Spots

By Adele Denman

1. Football: No discussion of the team nor the game could be mentioned without naming Mildred Ford, and Janelle Oakley self-appointed directors of the team's social life.

The player who seems to make the best impression on the women is Bob Buogard. Especially on the AGD's.

The battle is on between the AST and the football men, it depends on which kind of uniform has the most appeal as to who will please the girls.

2. Survey: The following poll was taken from a group of expert female grill sitters:

Most attractive AST, Louis Dinardo; most popular football player, Rusty Granitz; best civilian, Stan Hecker; the vet who gets around, Jack May; most attractive new boy, Tom Parry.

Who goes where, AST's to Jewell hall, players to Patt hall.

3. News casts and marriages: Johnny Jenkins is knocking himself out as usual; the object of his attack this time is Nancy Taylor. "Sassy" Saslou and Eli Becker were engaged last Saturday.

Cokie Hook, was wearing Bob Kretschmer's pin just to polish it. Heh! Heh! Are Dutch Campbell and Betty Barnes married?

4. New People: Len Shouse and Betty Jo Harris have a good old time. Elizabeth Lee Wright and Dick Hundley can really drive a truck.

5. Entertainment directory: For the best in good times try Jewell roof dances, or a Sigma Chi sponsored get-together.

6. New Frats: We hear that the SAE's plan to get started sometime within the next two years. The Pi KA's are back on the campus to keep the old frat going. In the old days they really had some good times, and these boys want to keep up the tradition.

7. Odds and the End: Margaret Hollyfield has a nice set up with Rats Bowen and Leonard Manley. 'Tis rumored that the Sigma Chi's may have a new house by fall. At Last! T. Bell will be home. The teachers in the dorms really fight for peace and quiet, but can they win?

Sur-Meis-ing

By Shirley Meister

Evidently the University and Kentucky are having more effect on the AST's than we imagined. It seems that Pvt. Jay Tenzer and Joe Teserario are getting up early every morning in order to listen to Renfro Valley. In fact Pvt. Harry Morgan has been sending in requests asking them please not to play his numbers until 6:30 because he doesn't get up until then.

Adele Denman went to the library to take out two books on the French and Italian press system. She rushed out of the library with them, gleefully thinking she would get all her information for her assignment from them. The information was in the books alright, but it was written in Italian and French!

We want to extend congratulations to Pvt. Eli (Beck) Becker and best wishes to "Sassy" Saslau—it's a pretty ring. Also "Happy Birthday" to Pvt. Irving Spar. Wow!

Pvt. Milton Honigman has made quite a few discoveries about Kentucky; for instance, there are more Kentuckians in Kentucky than anything else, the girls wear shoes, and blue grass is green grass with a little blue on top.

CLASSIFIEDS

LOST—Brown billfold, on campus. Initials R. L. E. Reward. Peg Eubanks, Jewell Hall.

LOST: Shaeffer fountain pen on campus last week. If found please return to Kernel business office.

LOST: Shell-rimmed glasses with pink rims. Reward.

Hillel Has Picnic

The Hillel youth group gave a picnic at Joyland Park Sunday, after which they had a round table discussion on the four major Zionist groups. The discussion was led by Ruth Perlmutter and Pvt. Alex Schwartz.

The Salt Shaker

We hope that everybody is aware of the fact that we have an "enchanted cottage" here at UK. Well, it really isn't a cottage; it's a room—the Carnegie Music Room in the Union building. It's a fine place for studying, hearing your favorite compositions, or just relaxing.

We went there the other day to enjoy a few moments of peace, but little did we know that it would lead to bedlam. While listening to some symphonic strains, we decided that music is here to stay, so the natural thing to do would be to go to the opera in Cincinnati.

Grabbing a friend and a bottle of cologne for Junior's gas tank, we set out for Cincy. That is, we had to wait until the little man with the big monkey wrench came to fix Junior's starter, and then we set out for Cincy. By that time it was seven p.m. and the opera started at a quarter after eight.

The trip was completely uneventful until we took a wrong turn and almost dashed over a cliff into the Ohio river. Obviously, it's a bad policy to drive in Kentucky with your eye on Ohio. And when crossing rivers make sure there's a bridge.

We wended our weary way into Cincy proper and then admitted to each other that we didn't know where the Zoo was. Not realizing that a lot of people didn't know that the opera was being given at the Zoo, we saw nothing wrong in stopping the car in the middle of Fountain Square (we had to stop there because we passed a red light and the cars were coming from all directions) and asking two soldiers how to get to the Zoo. Evidently, they thought we were trying to pick them up, for we received a very peculiar reply. We passed three more red lights and then stopped (while the light was green, of course) to ask directions from someone else. We asked a man, "Will you please tell us where the Zoo is?" He gave us the once-over and flatly stated, "No, I won't."!!

As no one would direct us, we had to follow our noses—which wasn't very difficult, for you could smell the Zoo from quite a distance. Somehow, we managed to get there and into our seats in time for the third act. Everything was fine until we realized that they weren't singing in English and that we didn't know Italian. So we decided to watch the woman next to us and react in a like manner.

When she sighed, we sighed. When she sniffled with compassion, we did, too. And when she cried, so did we. But after awhile we noticed that she cried when everyone else was roaring with laughter. The truth of the matter was that she had a very bad cold.

The return trip the following afternoon was very interesting. We watched the motorists play games on U.S. 25. The object of which seemed to be: how many cars can you pass in a "no passing" zone. We tried to enter into the fun, but we couldn't manage to overtake the car in front of us. Our friend tried to read the sticker on its windshield to see what college the driver went to. When he forced the car before him to stop, we discovered that the sticker said "Sheriff."

When we hit Lexington, we went to the bowling alley for a bite to eat. We were mighty tired, but on seeing that they were short of help, we decided to give them a hand. Pitching in behind the counter, we washed and broke dishes, squirted chocolate syrup into vanilla shakes, sliced nail polish into sandwiches and had a tres gai time for almost four hours. We gave extraordinary service to the customers, too. We chased one man for two blocks because he had left his keys on the counter, and we retrieved somebody's child from under a parked car outside. On the whole, we must have done pretty well, for three UK men downed fifteen black cherry ice cream cones, a Boy Scout had three cokes, and only one person refused to drink a malted we had brewed.

When we had insulted the last customer, broken the last dish, and licked out the last ice cream container, we found that we had just enough time to run into town for a stimulant. But when we reached the desired destination an awful thing happened. While pushing past people to get to a table, someone mistook our friend for a waitress. And that was the last straw!

Of course, there's a moral to this tale. It is: By all means, go to the Carnegie Music Room. BUT when the music arouses hidden impulses, YIELD NOT!

The Lowe-Down

By Dick Lowe

The only major change in the former football schedule is the game with Alabama's Crimson Tide. The game was to be played on Stoll field but Coach Bernie Shively announced that the game will be played at du Pont Manual stadium in Louisville.

Three games, including the first home contest of the campaign with the University of Cincinnati September 29, will be played at night. Other night tilts include the season's opener with Ole Miss at Memphis, Tenn., September 21 and the return game with Cincinnati at the Queen City October 27.

Four games are to be played in Lexington, one game at Louisville, one game at Cincinnati, and four other contests on foreign soil. Southeastern Conference engagements are carded with Mississippi, Georgia, Vanderbilt, Alabama, and Tennessee. The complete schedule follows:

Sept. 21—Mississippi	Memphis (night)
Sept. 29—Cincinnati	Lexington (night)
Oct. 6—Michigan State	East Lansing, Mich.
Oct. 13—Georgia	Lexington
Oct. 20—Vanderbilt	Nashville
Oct. 27—Cincinnati	Cincinnati (night)
Nov. 3—Alabama	Louisville
Nov. 10—West Virginia	Morgantown, W. Va.
Nov. 27—Marquette	Lexington
Nov. 24—Tennessee	Lexington

Dr. Donovan said that salaries which double and treble those the University is allowed to pay are paid to first-rate educators in other states.

Professor Asher Accepts Position

E. J. Asher, associate professor of psychology at the University, has accepted the position of associate professor of psychology and head of the psychology laboratory at Purdue University. He and his family will leave this week for Lafayette, Ind., where they will make their home.

Professor Asher has been associated with the University's psychology department since the fall of 1928 and has been in charge of classification tests for University freshmen and the state high school testing program.

Cheers For Johnstone Baffles Japanese

A rousing "Rah, Rah, Rah, Johnstone" from an isolated Marine unit baffled the Japs somewhere in the Pacific recently.

Marine First Lieut. William F. Johnstone, Lexington, volunteered to return to the rear for badly needed ammunition, food and water for the unit. Returning from this mission, he was greeted by a college cheer from his men. Across the way, the Japanese stopped shooting, apparently expecting a Banzai attack, Marine style. The Marines held on to drive the Japs from the island.

The officer entered the service in July, 1942, shortly after graduating from the University, where he was a member of Alpha Gamma Rho.
